BREAD ORDINANCE KILLED IN COMMITTEE

Proposed Measure Will Not Be Reported Favorably-Dead Issue Probably.

The DonLeavey ordinance fixing a un by Richmond bakers was defeated in the form last night. The report of the subcommittee which wa sto recommend the measure favorably with the amendment reducing the size of the loaf from sixteen to fourteen ounces, was not accepted by the committee as a whole, the vote being four against it and three for it. On a motion to reject the ordinance, there was only one vote—Mr. Lynch—in the negative. The action of the committee last night effectually kills the ordinance, it is believed. Mr. DonLeavey, father of the measure, said after the meeting that he had little hopes of its passage through committee which wa sto recommend the measure, said after the meeting that he had little hopes of its passage through the Council "But," said he, "the Councilmen seem to be the only people in the city against it."

The bakers are a unit in opposing the adoption of such a law, declaring that it would work a hardship upon them, and that it would be pure and simple class legislation.

Opponents of the proposed ordinance found a strong ally in Councilman Cannon, who, in vigorous language protested against its passage by the committee at the meeting last night.

the meeting last night.
Councilman Williams's ordinance creating Concliman withains softman teaching the position of city bacteriologist was taken up and went over for an executive session, for action. Dr Williams was present and explained the measure. There appeared to be no opposition to the adoption of the ordisance, a subcommittee naving reported it favorably.
